AMERICANS AREN'T A BOOZY BUNCH! — SURVEY

A MERICANS aren't as party-hearty as you may think — nearly half of us are total teetotalers or only drink a few times a year! That's the surprising result of a new Rasmussen poll, which also shows that on the other end of the scale, a scant 9 percent admitted to drinking every day or nearly every day.

Imbibe
But the largest group, 27 percent, don't even touch booze. And another 21 percent say they only imbibe rarely. Meanwhile, 18 percent drink once a week, while 14 percent enjoy an alcoholic beverage just once a month. And this may come as no surprise to married folks, but twice as many of them drink every day than their single counterparts. So much for wedded bliss!
